RE: Reclamation Surety, DJN Corp. Proposed Operations in Utah County.

I have evaluated the proposed operations as discussed with Todd Anderson (operator) for his proposed new stone quarry located south of Elberta, Utah, in Utah County.

As described, disturbances will consist of removal of rock from the surface, or near surface (up to about 10 feet as observed from neighboring quarries). When excavating, overburden materials are piled next to the hole where a Dozer can easily push the material back into the hole. There will be no highwalls or waste piles that will need to be regraded. This is very similar reclamation to that of the Elite Rock West and the Flower Patch Quarries where the reclamation surety was calculated to be $10,000.00 for a 5-acre permit area at each site.

I propose that this same amount be used for this proposed operation as well.
